- needling the 5 protocol points provides the most effective stimulation
- applying seeds or low-strength gold covered magnetic ear beads to these acupressure points provides a milder effect
- suitable for use in between needle sessions, on children or infants

• The Figures on the right shows a 16-year old girl with Down's Syndrome and nystagmus who had great trouble sitting still and focusing, was asked to draw a self-portrait. (Figure 1)

After five days of wearing the beads she was asked once again to draw a self-portrait. (Figure 2). The contrast of two drawings is quite striking and may be an indication of treatment-related effect on her nystagmus.
